Hey, you should really avoid posting your cell phone number online.

Thnx. But should everyone know that you have "Checked In" at home/school/etc.? And you're remembering not to text & drive, right?

Of course not! If you wouldn't say it in person why say it anywhere. What you post could affect your reputation.

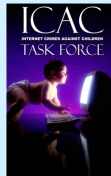

But don't forget that Internet Safety rules still apply when you access sites from your phone.

Yup. A speaker reminded us that before you upload cell phone pictures or videos: THINK. Will this picture/video offend or upset anyone? AND remember; if you send a nude photo of a minor you are breaking the law.

You can always report inappropriate material or behavior to your Internet Service Provider and to the Cybertipline at www.cybertipline.com or 1-800-843-5678.
